SUMMARY

Computer Science student looking for a 17-week Programmer internship from November 16, 2026, to March 12, 2027. I might not be an expert coder yet, but I have strong logical thinking and good research skills to help troubleshoot and customize programs. Along with my technical interests, my background in customer service and student activities makes me highly capable of handling team communication, coordination, and project documentation. I am a fast learner and ready to assist the team in any way I can.

Target roles

- Programmer
- UX/UI Designer
- Software Tester

Internship Objectives

- To learn how software is developed in a real company, especially Agile/Scrum teamwork.
- To assist senior programmers with R&D, finding bugs, and customizing programs.
- To help the team run smoothly by managing documents and coordinating tasks effectively.

University projects

Mango Species Detection and Quality Classification App (In Progress) / 2026
